++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Sunny spells and locally prolonged heavy showers.

Today:

Low cloud in places soon clearing to sunny spells, however this will in turn spark scattered slow-moving showers. These will become increasingly heavy as the day progresses, with a risk of thunder and hail, mainly in the north. Light winds. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:

Showers gradually easing during the evening, giving way to more generally cloudy conditions and showery rain later. Staying mild, with generally light winds. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Monday:

On the cloudy side at first, but otherwise a day of sunshine and a few showers, with these again slow-moving and potentially thundery. Light winds. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:

Isolated showers will develop on Tuesday, but overall these should be fewer and lighter than on Monday. Conditions turning more settled from midweek with more in the way of sunshine.
